

Floyd Co/Rome, Ga/The Real Ro... • Join • ...

Flint Bloedow • 2d •

I moved to Rome to live in a small town that I believed reflected my values and interests but now I am questioning my decision. In the next two to four years 2500 single family homes being constructed, ip to four data processing centers being constructed, solar panel farms....all ruining the small town atmosphere and beauty of the county. Rome doesn't have big business moving in to support 4 to 5 thousand new residents nor the infrastructure. The county commissioners are stripping away the small town atmosphere Rome has always enjoyed and reflected.

1 447

Like 447

Comment 300

Share 28

Newest ▾

Jenn Kane

Been happening in this state for the past 10 years.

42m Like Reply

Swanson Wanda

Instead of building all these gas stations with the ding ding machines, the vape stores, car wash, BUILDING something for the children of this county, instead of placing a phone or table in front of them. Why not build a inside Rock climbing, another skating

Write an answer...

7:28 ⚡ ⚡ ⚡ ⚡

5G ⚡ ⚡ ⚡ ⚡

21h Like Reply

2

Sara Malone

We have two boards (city & county) to blame. We need to take it to the ballot box. A change is gonna come. Don't give up.

21h Like Reply

4

View previous replies...

Cindy Chancey

Tammy Vicks you are exactly correct!!! It is both sides, greed and corruption at its finest!

19h Like Reply

Amy Henry

Sara Malone I don't know that the commissioners are to blame, although they are voicing no opposition. Recent commission meetings reveal that a deal was made without their knowledge. And tbh, after hearing what Kelly Limes-Taylor had to say at the last one, I'm not sure it's going to matter who's elected. The local element is being destroyed by these decisions. :(

19h Like Reply

Sara Malone

Tammy Vicks I understand.

19h Like Reply

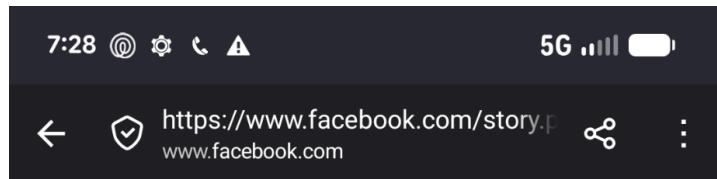

Michael Henderson

Write an answer...

you are in the growth zone.

21h Like Reply

3

Angelia Graham

Come to cedar bluff. It's pretty small.

21h Like Reply

2

Linda Faye Holloway-Kile

This is happening in every small city and county across Georgia. It's insane to me that elected officials keep approving these things when it's as plain as the nose on their face, that the ones that voted them in, do NOT want them!

21h Like Reply

3

Amy Henry

Linda Faye Holloway-Kile Find the live video of the most recent Rome City Commission meeting. Listen to Kelly Limes-Taylor. She's about 7 minutes in. She agrees with you, by the way.

19h Like Reply

Cindy Chancey

It seems to be happening in all the beautiful great places to live...I could say word for word of your post, only change it to Lagrange Ga. It is heartbreaking! What the president wants, the president gets...im not being political, just stating he is the driving

Write an answer...

